

All dolled up

WHITE Stripes have launched their own Russian dolls.

The limited edition designer toys are based on the rock duo's looks from each album campaign.

There are only 1,000 sets of dolls – which include my faves, the pearly king and queen – in circulation and they've just gone on sale on the band's official website.

The pair release new tune Conquest on December 31.